From Our Director, LuAnn Holden

The Singing Girls of Texas

The Chattanooga Girls Choir has the opportunity to collaborate with Dr. Randy Brittain, Director of Music at the First Baptist Church in hosting The Singing Girls of Texas.

The organization is a professional high school girls' choir consisting of 40 young women who all attend the same school, Fort Worth Academy of Fine Arts (www.fwafa.org). The choir is touring in Tennessee and Florida.

The Singing Girls of Texas will be presenting a concert at The First Baptist Church, downtown Chattanooga on Friday, January 20 at 7:00 pm. The concert will include a variety of literature ranging from the classics, spirituals, and patriotic celebrations, to a medley of Broadway music. You will not want to miss this new and very exciting ensemble. The concert is free and open to the public.

The Singing Girls of Texas is an ensemble consisting of girls from grades 8 through 12 at the Fort Worth Academy of Fine Arts. They are creating a reputation across Texas and the United States with their outstanding vocal blend, variety of repertoire, passion for music, and excellent presentation. They are led by their artistic director, Mark L. Stamper. For more information, please visit the choir's website at www.thesgt.org.

The Chattanooga Girls Choir will be providing host homes for The Singing Girls of Texas. The girls housing list calls for two girls per household. Also needing housing are two female chaperones, the conductor and accompanist. Please call the Chattanooga Girls Choir office at 266-9422 to volunteer to host girls or adults. Also needed are volunteers to serve dinner and distribute programs. While here, Mark Stamper has graciously agreed to work with the Chattanooga Girls Choir Concert Choir on Saturday morning from 9:00-11:00 A.M.
